

- 1 A. It's not very good.
- 2 Q. Okay. Do you -- are you able to converse at an
3 elementary level in English?
- 4 A. What would that mean?
- 5 Q. You know, to say -- to talk to people every day
6 in the street.
- 7 A. To have a full conversation, no.
- 8 Q. But how much of English can you understand?
- 9 A. Enough for me to survive.
- 10 Q. Okay. Fair enough.
- 11 Now, was there a night in which you and your 12 husband were woken up by the police?
- 13 A. Yes.
- 14 Q. Could you tell us what happened?
- 15 A. Yes, I woke up with a very loud noise that the 16 police officer made when he was knocking at the door. I
17 got scared. I looked at the clock, it was 3:30 in the 18 morning.
- 19 I said to my husband, Please be careful, ask 20 them who they are.
- 21 And he opened the door and it was a police
22 officer. And the little bit of English that I
23 understood, if we had heard a man walking and talking on 24 the phone, calling out to see if anybody could help him.
- 25 Q. And what was your answer to that?

A. No.

Q. All right. Thank you very much.

MR. BLACK: No further questions, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Ms. Collins?

MS. COLLINS: Thank you.

CROSS-EXAMINATION

BY MS. COLLINS:

Q. Now, Ms. DaSilva, you helped your husband with taking care of the horses, taking care of Mr. Kampsen's property back when you were living there?

A. Just with the horses.

Q. Okay. You didn't make sure the lights were off?

A. No, normally it was my husband that did that.

Q. You didn't do any straightening up or cleaning in the office upstairs?

A. No.

Q. Do you remember what the temperature was like that night?

A. No.

Q. What do you-all do, you and your husband, when it's a cool night, you know, and 50 degrees Fahrenheit? Would you and your husband leave the air conditioner on, or would you turn the air conditioner off?

A. Yes.
